NATIONAL MARKER DEVELOPS “GREEN” SIGN MATERIAL

North Smithfield, RI - For those that think being green is important, National Marker has developed a new sign material. Signs made from this material provide a two-in-one benefit, not only are they made out of milk jugs rescued from the landfill, but they can be recycled again, preventing additional material from going to a landfill. These signs follow the three R's, they reduce waste, reuse already made material, and can be recycled again. These signs complement National Marker's existing line of Going Green products, which consist of banners, signs, labels and hardhat emblems. National Marker is a leading manufacturer of safety identification products. To get more information about the green material or other Going Green products, call us 800-453-2727.
